Harry D. Jewell and His Persistent Application

IN THE STUDY OF THE LAW

Design of a Judicial Reformation—Some of Interest Picked Up at Madison Avenue.

Harry D. Jewell, clerk of the probate court, is one of the brightest young lawyers in the city and a very active republican. He was born in Wheaton, Illinois, while his parents were temporarily residing there. His father was an old settler of Cedar Springs, being supervisor of that township during the war. Until 10 years old Harry spent his time on the farm, two and one-quarter miles west of Cedar Springs. He entered the graded school in the village in 1879, walking night and morning the long distance to school for six years. His vacations were spent on the farm and there he laid the foundation for his physical strength which has carried him through mental work that has broken down less developed physical bodies.

While yet a mere boy his father received an injury which threw the burden of managing the farm upon Harry and his mother. He continued his studies and graduated from the Cedar Springs high school in 1896. He became discouraged with the financial prospects held out from the farm and induced his parents to sell a large portion of the farm. Believed of the burden of looking after the farm he entered the law office of D. C. Lyle of Cedar Springs and acted as office boy and studied law there for three years. In 1899 he entered the law department of the university and graduated in 1901 with the degree of Bachelor of Laws. He took a post graduate course and graduated in 1902 with the degree of Master of Laws. He was admitted to the bar before the supreme court at Lansing in 1901, one year before graduating, and was the youngest lawyer in Michigan, having just passed his 21st birthday. He was appointed assistant law librarian in Ann Arbor and held the position two collegiate years. In 1901 he was appointed one of the four quiz masters in the law department. He held various positions as assistants to professors of law and at the same time devoted some time to literary and newspaper work. He was correspondent for the Detroit and Grand Rapids papers and was one of the founders of the University of Michigan Daily, the first college daily published in the west. He also aided in founding the Michigan Law Journal and is still one of its editors. He came to Grand Rapids in 1902 and formed a law partnership with Judge Reuben Hatch, which was dissolved to take the position he now holds in the probate court.

Mr. Jewell has always been a republican and has always taken an active part in campaigns as his business would allow. He was a member of the University republican club and aided in organizing the American Republican club here. He was given an appointment by the national republican committee as one of the officers of the national republican convention held in Minneapolis one year ago. He was one of the prime movers in the organization of the Young Men's Republican club of Grand Rapids. Though withdrawn from active practice, Mr. Jewell's sole ambition is to attain success as a lawyer. Much of his time evenings is spent in the study of his chosen profession.

He's Not It Had.

There seems to be no limit to the varieties played by the kodak man, when once it fastens itself upon the brain of a patient. Fred J. Adams of the Democrat is the latest victim of the craze. He has got a "You press the button, we do the rest" machine, and for a week past has spent several hours each day practicing on a young woman friend. A few days ago he exhibited her picture, taken in fifty seven different positions and with 101 different expressions of countenance. Fred has now turned the machine on himself, and already has several dozen flattering pictures. Next week he expects to take snap shots at himself and best girl during the Sunday evening photo-sessions.

Policemen Must Chase Cows.

The office of poundmaster has been abolished and after July 1 the duties of that office will devolve upon the police department. It is probable that one man will be detailed for that duty. The suburban cow new fad in its germination, both or between on his sweet peas or above their home through the evergreen in his front yard to brush off the flies, will have to call up police headquarters if he wishes the horses arrested or removed. Incidents in the case are, are particularly troubled by persons who make a practice of tying their cows with weak cables so that they get loose and roam about at random during the night.

Be Careful How You Give.

All last week a boy about 16 years old, with one empty coat sleeve, has infected the wealthy avenue cars selling candy on which was printed some very bad poetry entitled "The Crippled Boy's Appeal." The attention of Miss Field of the Organized Charity society was called to the matter. "I wish," said she, "that you would be persons against all that anyone in that manner. They are doing the boy no good, but are simply showing him to remain a beggar. If he were sent to a school or a place where he could learn a trade or get him a piece of work for some kind of useful work. In almost every case where money is given to such per-

What the Whiskers Are Doing and Their Plans.

John Hunt of this city, W. E. Metzger of Detroit and H. H. Morgan of Lansing, as representatives of the L. A. W., are considering plans for a relay race from Detroit to this city to take place at some time during the latter part of summer. They will soon issue a challenge to the Y. M. C. A. in this state to be a contest in the race. The relay last year was from this city to Detroit, but this year it will be reversed.

Next Sunday the club will take a run to Crook's lake for lunch. The riders will start at 10 a. m. This will make a run of eighteen miles.

John Lakone bought two wheels last week for members of his family.

Fred Hyman, W. E. Dyer, Will Simmonds and Arthur Sargent are members of the recently organized Boat and Canoe club, and every evening they take a spin to the lake for a boat ride.

Charles and Ed Letts rode to Green-ville on their wheels yesterday afternoon and expect to return home today.

Sales of bicycles were fairly good last week, about thirty having been sold by local dealers.

Perkins & Richmond's little river yacht Rambler will soon be ready to run on the river, and July 4 a race between it and six members of the bicycle club will take place from here to Grand Haven. It is expected the yacht will have a running capacity of ten miles an hour.

The Waukegan road race July 4 from Milwaukee to Waukegan, a distance of twenty miles, is looked forward to with much interest by a large number of Grand Rapids best wheelmen. Harry Byrdon, Frank Richmond and Champion Charles Letts have about decided to enter the contest. They will ride to Grand Haven July 3 and in the evening board a vessel for Milwaukee.

A meeting will be called some time this week to consider the matter of forming a stock company for the construction of a race course and grand stand at North park on the site offered by the Hon. C. C. Constock. There is a difference of opinion among the wheelmen as to the feasibility of the project, but a large number of them are still enthusiastic over the prospects.

The Grand Rapids Bicycle club is in a prosperous condition, and the membership continues to increase weekly by the addition of new members. At the present time there are 140 members on the roster.

A number of Sparta wheelmen will be entertained by the local club today. The visitors will come in on the Alpine road this morning and a delegation from the city will meet them on their wheels. They will dine at Sweet's and after a spell of recuperation in the club-room a trip will be taken to North park.

TROTTERS AT THE TRACK.

What the Trotters and Pacers Are Doing at Comstock Park.

L. G. Durbin's Jennie Hawthorne turned a mile Friday in 2:30 flat. This is the fastest mile made on the track this season.

A force of men are at work repairing the fences that were washed down by the high water.

There are something over 75 horses working on the track now, and more are arriving every day.

Dr. Brigham's road mare, Lambert Queen, shows great speed, and it is probable that he will put her in training. She frequently drags the doctor over a gravel road at a 3 minute clip, and horsemen say she has the making of a speedy trotter.

Peter Johnson of Kalamazoo has written to Assistant Secretary Martin that he will move his stable to Comstock Park next week.

The new track machine and road sweeper will arrive Monday and will be put into operation immediately. With the exception of a few soft spots the track is as fine as silk.

Salisbury writes that his string started from Pleasanton, California, yesterday, and will be eight or ten days on the road. Part of the flyers will train on the Comstock track.

In the better classes of the stake races nearly all the third payments have been made. The prospects for a long up meeting in August grow more encouraging every day.

Charles W. Williams of Independence, Iowa, has promised to make entries in the class races for the August meeting.

John A. Webster, proprietor of the Oxford stock farm at Portland, Michigan, will enter "Brother Smith" by Montgomery in the 3:00 trot.

T. C. Jefferson of Lexington, proprietor of the Maple Ridge stock farm, has written for prices for accommodations and it is probable that he will ship his string to Comstock park in a couple of weeks.

W. J. Maloney, S. A. Brown & Co.'s trainer, said yesterday that the track was in first class condition and could be no better for working horses. He worked Dancourt a quarter in 25 yesterday morning.

Simon & Lilley's C. O. D. worked a quarter in 26 1/4 yesterday morning. This is a 2:25 clip. C. O. D. is showing up well this year. Fast time is expected from him before the season is closed.

Hooper Bros. have established a blacksmith shop at the track for the accommodation of the trainers.

Shanahan's bay pacer, Legal Boy, turned a quarter the other day in 34 flat. This is the fastest quarter of the season and has been designated only once. Jennie Hawthorne made the same time in the first quarter of her 2:30 mile.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adopting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will admit the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embodied in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

It is common to see the purgative in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative: effectively cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.
